

THE KING EDWARD MEMORIAL FUND FOR CONSUMPTIVES

" I know that in giving their consent to such a memorial the King and Queen acted as my brother would have wished ; for he would have desired no finer monument to his memory, nor could one have been devised more fitly to remind us of one of the greatest interests of his life's work."

From Address of H. R. H. The Duke of Connaught.

KING EDWARD VII

CABLE MESSAGES

"FROM HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS, THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT, TO THE KING OF ENGLAND.

February 15, 1913.

At a public meeting in Toronto to-day I received a certified statement showing that the Trustees of the National Sanitarium Association had completed the Million Dollar Fund for the suppression of tuberculosis as a memorial to King Edward.

(Signed) ARTHUR."

FROM THE KING TO THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT:

"THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT,

MONTREAL,

February 16, 1913.

I rejoice to hear that the splendid sum of a Million Dollars has been collected for the fund for suppression of tuberculosis as a memorial to my dear father. No better object could have been chosen.

(Signed) GEORGE."

A GREAT WORK, ROUNDED OUT

BY
HECTOR CHARLESWORTH

NO movement in the history of Canada has ever obtained such a grip on the imagination of the people as the work of the National Sanitarium Association. It has revolutionized popular ideas regarding the terrible plague of tuberculosis, and families no longer succumb to a feeling of hopeless horror when a member is seized by the dread disease. Experience has shown that sons and daughters may be returned to their stricken parents, and as the fight goes on it is constantly bringing fresh proofs that health can be restored in cases where a few years ago there was nothing but the prospect of waste and decay.

BEHIND the great institution lies a little romance of real life—one of those common-place incidents, which after similar occurrences have passed unnoticed for generations, seem at last to speak and serve as an inspiration for a splendid movement.

*A Romance
of Real Life*

It was about twenty years ago that Mr. W. J. Gage had a very ordinary interview with a young clerk in his office which started him thinking of the problem of fighting the white plague.

The young man came to his employer one morning with the announcement that he was severing his connection with the firm. His explanation was a simple one; he had discovered that his lungs were affected and while there was yet a chance he wanted to see what the climate of Colorado might accomplish for him. Doctors were at that time inclined to stand comparatively helpless in the presence of tuberculosis, and their chief prescription was a change to a warmer and drier climate. That had been the order given to the clerk by his medical adviser, so he was departing, doubtless with the feeling so common in those days, that his career had been practically ended the moment that the dread disease laid its hand upon him.

The story was familiar enough, and Mr. Gage, like every other man, had doubtless listened to it many times with a feeling of compassion that seemed impotent in the presence of the deadly foe. But he had been considering the problem carefully, and this specific case, coming so close to him, put his thoughts into definite form.

Here was a clerk who was not merely distressed by the doctor's order that he should visit the warm, dry, western State, for he had money enough to make the trip, but there were hundreds to whom the very prescription served only to indicate the deadliness of their disease. They could not afford to leave home, but had to wait and face what they regarded as their inevitable end.

It was evident to Mr. Gage that someone had to undertake the task of bettering the condition of the tubercular victims, and he straightway began the work which was to swell to such great dimensions within a score of years.

First
numl-

THE first public communication on the subject was a letter written to the Mayor of Toronto twenty years ago by Mr. Gage, in which he offered to give the sum of $25,000 for the erection of a Consumptive Hospital if the City would furnish a suitable site. The Mayor wrote in reply, suggesting that instead of a separate building, a wing be added to the Home for Incurables. This letter of the Mayor fairly reflected public opinion.

At that time there was not a single institution for the care of consumptives in Canada, and only one in the United States, so the work was only in an experimental stage. Those who claimed to know anything about tuberculosis were under the impression that cures could only be obtained in the warm southern climates or in the higher altitudes of the Rockies. It was on account of this myth that Mr. Gage journeyed across the continent to the Canadian Rockies, and he paid a visit to Kamloops, B.C.

It was intended at that time to start the work on a limited scale, and the site selected looked suitable. Sir William Van Horne, who then occupied the position of President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, volunteered to make arrangement whereby patients could be carried free from all parts of Canada. It looked for a while as though the Pacific coast would become the Mecca of all the sufferers in Canada.

The old idea that heat was necessary had not disappeared, and some doctors claimed that the northern portion of Ontario, though all right in summer, would prove much too cold in other months of the year. Time was to prove the error of this belief, for it took but few years to show the importance of the Winter cure.

THE climate of Muskoka, where it was decided to locate, rapidly became world-famous for its life-giving qualities, and the Ontario consumptives did not have to put a whole continent between themselves and their friends in order to secure treatment. The land which had been selected in Kamloops eventually became the property of the British Columbia Government, which used it as a site for the establishment of a tuberculosis hospital.

The discovery that Muskoka was an ideal climate in which to erect a hospital proved a very important one. It was useful to have an object lesson so close at hand at a time when the public had to be educated as to what could be accomplished by such an institution, but there were many difficulties to surmount, the first being the securing of the funds necessary to carry on a hospital.

In the first place Mr. Gage had made the proposal to the City of Toronto that if they would furnish a site adjacent to the city he would give $25,000 towards a sanatorium. The importance of the undertaking was not yet realized by the citizens, and as they did nothing to spur on the men in charge of civic affairs, two years passed without any action being taken.

To the men who felt the vital need of the work the delay was galling. They saw the deadly foe of the white men gathering in monthly a fresh crop of victims, so they began the war unassisted by civic grants.

A WELL-KNOWN citizen came forward to help along the great cause, Mr. Hart A. Massey, the philanthropist and manufacturer, joining Mr. Gage, each contributing the sum of $25,000, and in 1896 the Muskoka Cottage Hospital was opened near Gravenhurst and began operations with a complete equipment and staff.

Muskoka Decided Upon

This was Canada's first institution for fighting the white plague. A pathetic interest is added to the memory of this great occasion by the fact that Dr. J. E. Graham, who helped Mr. Gage select the site, died there several years later, a victim of the disease against which he had waged such bitter warfare during his professional career.

Among those who gave much of their time and greatly aided in the work from its inception were: Mr. Hugh Blain, Hon. W. A. Charlton, Mr. Ambrose Kent, and Dr. N. A. Powell.

The opening of the first hospital was the crown of a long and difficult campaign. The men behind the movement had many prejudices to overcome, for the belief was common in those days—unfortunately it may still be found—that the consumptive was doomed. The strength of this obstacle may be gathered from an editorial that appeared in an influential paper early in 1895, which contained the following sentences: "One of the difficulties is to remove from the public mind the impression that consumption is incurable, the belief being almost universal that once it has seized hold of its victims all that can be done is to leave them to die. Such people are under sentence of death."

The advance in knowledge made in recent years has had the effect of causing people to forget that such difficulties ever existed. The fact remains, however, that the leaders of the movement had to prove to a very skeptical population that they, while well-meaning, were not mistaken dreamers. For that very reason the triumph of the work appears all the greater, as the attitude of the world at large towards the treatment of tuberculosis has entirely changed during the last two decades.

The building of the Muskoka Cottage Hospital did not entirely change the general feeling of indifference towards the work. This first sanatorium was operated on a semi-charitable plan, the patients paying a small sum weekly.

THE pioneers soon met a new difficulty from the fact that a large class appealing for admission could not pay even the small charge made at the Cottage Sanatorium. It became evident that the next step must be the establishment of an institution where patients had nothing to pay.

It was in 1902 that the Association erected the first building of the Muskoka Free Hospital, Mr. Gage and members of the family of the late Mr. Hart A. Massey again coming forward with their gifts to provide the necessary funds. This portion of the undertaking was something entirely unique. At that time America contained no other free hospital for tuberculous patients, so that the Canadians acted as pioneers. Their example has since been followed by other workers in the cause of humanity, but even to-day the institution has not as many duplicates as one might expect in a civilized age.

The work was now in a position to make a very wide appeal to all classes of mankind. Canada contained no home which the terrible plague had not touched either through a relative or a friend, and as case after case proved that the battle could be successfully waged against it, the interest in the undertaking grew by leaps and bounds. It was also greatly aided by the enlistment as an active worker of the late H. C. Hammond, one of the most popular financiers that ever became prominent in the business life of Toronto.

THE first two institutions erected—the Muskoka Cottage Sanatorium and the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives, were intended only for incipient cases of tuberculosis. They aimed to show that when the patient had not gone too far the disease could be cured, and the splendid results obtained proved this contention beyond all shadow of a doubt. Still the work was by no means complete. There were many other victims of consumption who were bound to attract the attention and the pity of the men in charge of the sanatoria.

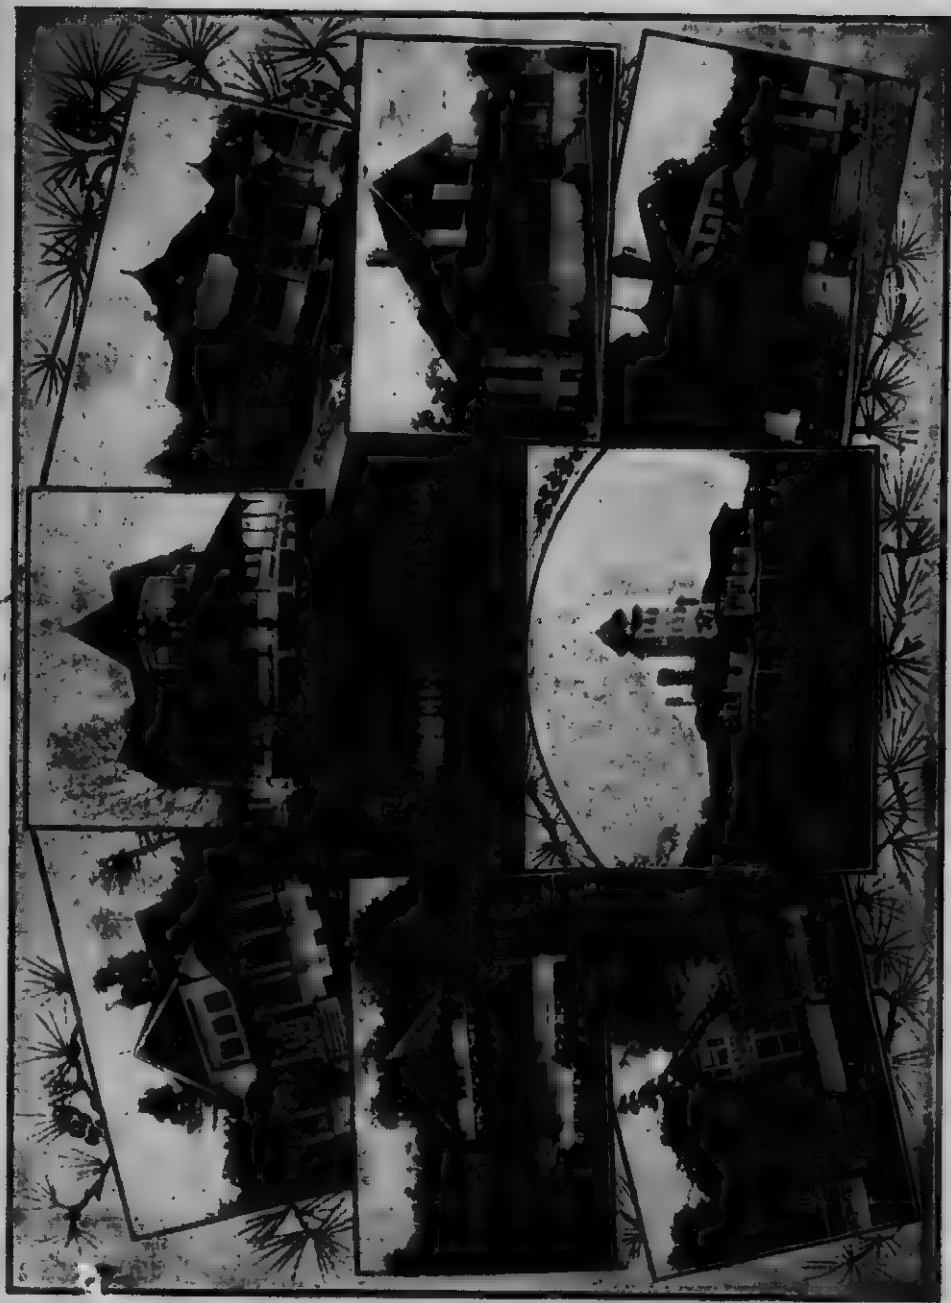

Something had to be done for the pitiable class who were in the advanced stages of the disease and whose lot was made all the more distressing as other hospitals now declined to accept them from fear of contagion.

The Toronto Free Hospital for Consumptives was the response made by the workers to this demand. It was recognized that the hospital for such cases would, for various reasons, be more desirable if situated near Toronto, and for that reason the site was chosen near Weston. It was the original thought to care only for patients who were residents of Toronto.

The securing of a site proved to be a formidable task, as people objected to the location of a sanatorium in their district. A number of properties were secured only to be abandoned on account of such opposition.

It was finally decided to purchase the property then known as Buttonwood Farm, the old family residence of Mr. Charles Lindsey. The necessary permission to establish a consumptive sanatorium was granted by the Health Board of York County, so at last the work could go on.

The site was an ideal one for such an institution. It was conveniently located on a high plateau, and possessed the desired elevation and pure air. Mr. Gage purchased forty acres, on which were a number of buildings, and some time later he handed the property over to the Trustee Board. The old homestead was remodelled and the necessary additions made to provide for the accommodation of about forty patients. It was in the spring of 1904 that the buildings were finally completed, overlooking the beautiful Humber Valley and convenient both to the western suburbs of Toronto and to Weston. This was the first hospital for advanced cases established anywhere in the world, and one of the worst set-backs encountered in the advancement of the work was the destruction of the building by fire in 1910.

It was in connection with this hospital that Sir William Broadbent, M.D., F.R.S., London, Eng., uttered one of the most important eulogiums that the Association has ever received. He visited the Toronto Free Hospital for Consumptives in the summer of 1906, and afterwards contributed a descriptive article to the British Medical Journal, in which he said:—

"The hospital for advanced and far advanced consumption in Toronto is the first which, so far as I am aware, has been erected purely and simply with a view to prevention. I do not know who is to be credited with the idea—whether lay or medical—but I regard it as a fine instance of Canadian common sense and foresight."

The property now in the possession of the Association offered splendid opportunities for expansion.

THREE years after the first building was ready for patients a second sanatorium, situated on the same grounds, opened its doors to patients in advanced stages of consumption. By gracious permission of His Majesty King Edward VII. the hospital bore the name of the King Edward Sanatorium for Consumptives.

This building was officially opened by His Excellency Earl Grey, and its erection was made possible by the gifts of Mr. H. C. Hammond and Mr. Robert Mulholland. It was intended to care for advanced cases seeking admission from any part of the Province; the Toronto Free Hospital providing accommodation for a similar class of patients from the City of Toronto.

ONCE more the National Sanitarium Association was to lead the world in the warfare against consumption. They did so when they decided to erect the first hospital put up in any country for the treatment of children suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis. Once more it means the opening of the eyes of the public to the work which had to be done, for few people realized how many little ones, some of them mere babies, required attention if their little lives were to be saved. His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught laid the corner-stone of this new building on May 12th, 1912, and by gracious permission of their Majesties it is now known as the Queen Mary Hospital for Consumptive Children.

THE activities of the Association are by no means confined to the mere treatment of consumptives, although that alone would be a glorious work; over 7,000 patients have been cared for in the several institutions, which means that nearly 4,000 Canadian citizens have been saved from the disease and sent back to their families. There are at the present time 430 patients being cared for in the sanatoria in Muskoka and allied institutions near Weston. Since these institutions were organized over a million dollars has been spent for the maintenance of the patients. But the workers saw that there was more to be done.

They have maintained a free dispensary where needy patients may apply for examination. A visiting nurse is employed by them for following patients to their homes and nursing those who cannot be moved, while a number of ladies compose what is known as the "Samaritan Club," for attending to the needs of the sick in their homes.

A training school for nurses now exists, where they may devote themselves exclusively to the study of tuberculosis, while at all times a staff is engaged carrying on the tremendous educational campaign, which includes lectures, the publication of thousands of leaflets, and the distribution every year of millions of Christmas stamps.

THE last and the greatest of all the activities, however, is known as the King Edward Memorial Fund for Consumptives. It has been very prominently before the public for some time past, and scarcely a person can be found who takes any interest whatsoever in the welfare of mankind but who knows something of its aims.

The first action was taken with regard to the raising of the King Edward Memorial Fund in 1910, when Mr. W. J. Gage, who was then President of the Toronto Board of Trade, called a meeting of leading citizens to take into consideration the desirability of erecting some monument or memorial to the late King Edward. The meeting led to the formation of a committee consisting of the Mayor, Mr. Gage, and Mr. W. K. McNaught, M.P.P., to wait on the Premier and the members of the Provincial Government, with a view to securing their co-operation. Sir James Whitney assured the committee that he was heartily in sympathy with the proposal, and he asked that several alternate suggestions might be submitted to him for consideration.

King Edw
Memorial

Public meetings were called but could arrive at no definite decision, so the year closed without anything being done.

In January, 1911, Mr. Gage called a meeting of the Trustees of the National Sanitarium Association, at the York Club, and there he submitted the proposal to make up a Million Dollar Fund in memory of the late king. It was shown that the Sanitarium Associations had already between three and four hundred thousand dollars invested in capital account (buildings, land, equipment, etc.) and confidence was expressed that the public would be ready to contribute the balance to make up a million dollars, with a view to securing this memorial. To assure success Mr. Gage agreed to give the first $100,000 towards the required amount.

The proposal met with the endorsement of the Trustees present, among whom were Sir John Gibson, Vice-President of the National Sanitarium Association, Hon. I. B. Lucas, Hon. J. J. Foy, W. K. McNaught, M.P.P., and Hon. W. A. Charlton, and all expressed their confidence in a successful result.

Steps were authorized and immediately taken to forward correspondence through His Excellency the Governor-General, asking permission to use the name of his late Majesty in connection with the proposed memorial, and in course of time a letter was received from the Home Secretary, intimating that this right had been graciously given by their Majesties King George and Queen Alexandra.

Early in the autumn of 1912 a deputation from the Board of Trustees, headed by Sir John M. Gibson, waited upon the civic authorities and outlined the details of the scheme. They asked for $200,000, and intimated that a similar amount had already practically been promised. The balance of the million dollars was to be secured by voluntary subscriptions from the general public. The by-law was submitted to the people on January 1st, 1913, and carried by an overwhelming majority.

The large sum of money mentioned when the deputation visited the Board of Control had come from two sources. There was the $100,000 promised by Mr. Gage when he first launched his scheme, and later Lord Strathcona, President of the National Sanitarium Association, offered $125,000 as a completing subscription, the proposal having been laid before him by Dr. James L. Hughes, who was authorized to visit Great Britain for that purpose.

With these splendid sums of money in sight, the Trustees turned with confidence to the public to secure the remainder. They made their appeal in December and the early part of January, and the manner in which the public has been brought to believe in the tremendous work that has been accomplished is evidenced by the splendid response. Thousands of persons came forward to contribute with sums varying from one dollar to twenty-five thousand dollars, and five or six weeks after the call went forth the Treasurer of the National Sanitarium Association could announce that the sum of one million dollars asked for was secured.

No one rendered more valuable service than Sir John M. Gibson, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province. Special mention should also be made of the time and thought given to this work by Messrs. A. E. Ames, J. M. Godfrey, W. P. Gundy, Dr. James L. Hughes, H. H. Love, and other members of the Trustee Board.

Some 200 newspapers in this city and Province generously placed their columns at the disposal of the Committee, and the Post Office Department permitted the use of a cancellation stamp bearing the message, "Help the King Edward Memorial Fund for Consumptives," to millions of people. The public interest thus awakened must have a very stimulating effect on the work of all kindred organizations in other cities and towns of this Dominion.

IT is doubtful whether civilization has ever seen a more complete change in public opinion than that which has taken place in the last twenty years with regard to tuberculosis. Two decades ago the fight was carried on in desperation and handicapped with the apathy of despair, but the big-hearted men now waging war against the deadliest foe of the white man are doing so with a calm confidence which is making itself felt on every side.

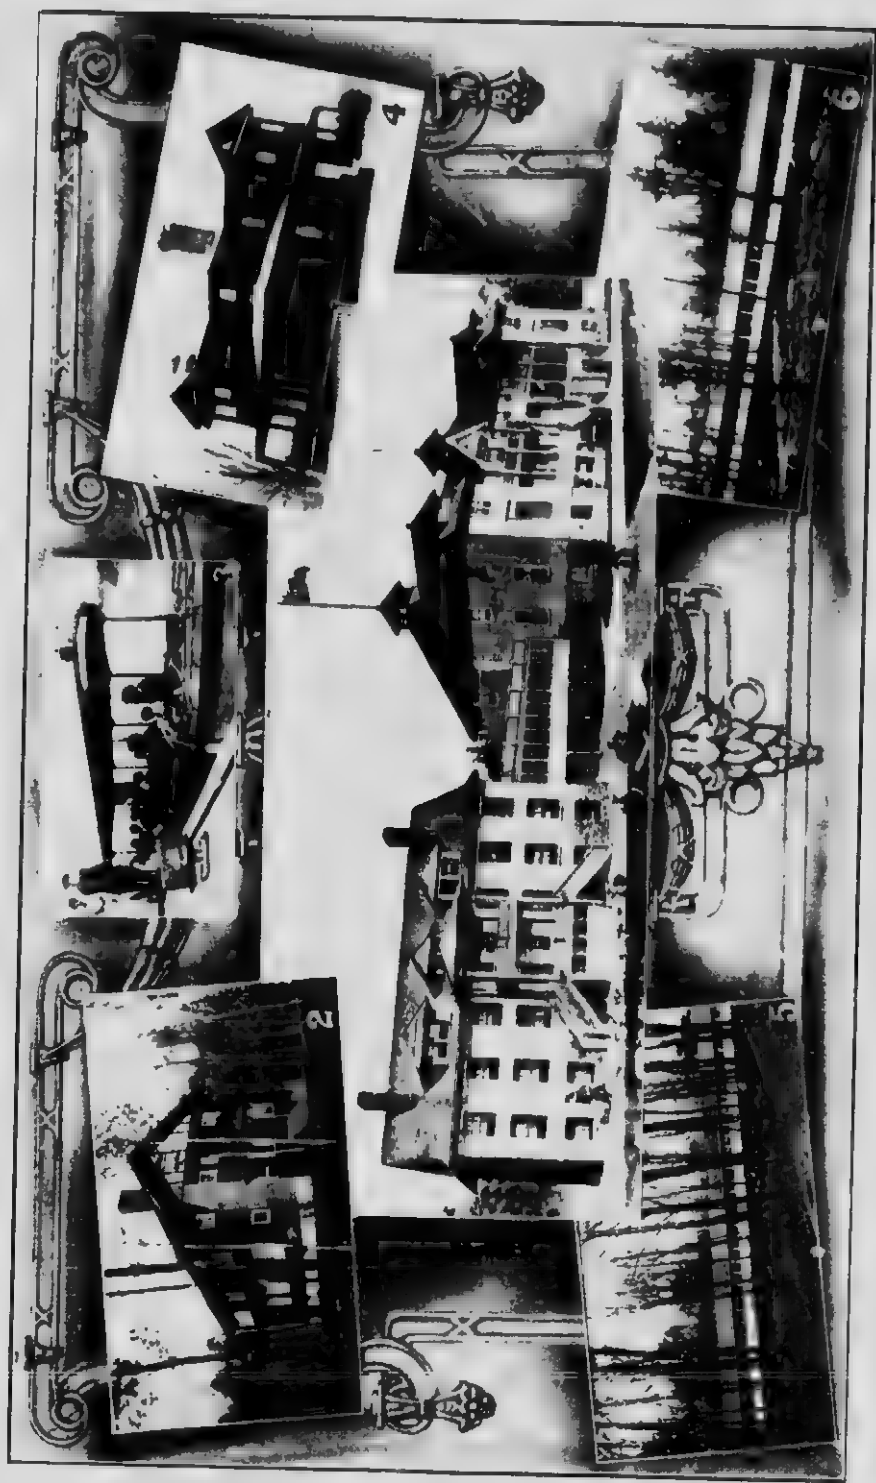

Seventeen years ago there was not a single institution in Canada for the care of consumptives, and only one in the United States; to-day there are 23 in the Dominion, and in Ontario alone there are 15 sanatoria either completed or in course of construction. Enlightened public opinion has expressed itself in legislation in this Province, and special provision is now made for the consumptive poor. It may be stated without much fear of contradiction that Ontario possesses a greater number of sanatoria in proportion to its population than can be found in any State or Province in Europe or America—in other words, it leads the world in the advanced and scientific fight against tuberculosis.

The educational campaign has also opened the eyes of the public to the nature of the fight against the white plague. They now have a general knowledge of the fact that consumption in the recently affected may be cured by a four-fold means, which can be given roughly as follows: pure air and sunlight, good and simple nourishment, discipline and rest, and lastly, hope.

It is now widely recognized that even a rich man cannot provide this life-giving combination for a sufferer outside of such institutions as those conducted by the National Sanitarium Association. No matter how wealthy a man may be, he cannot secure in his own home the discipline which compels the victim of tuberculosis to let nature have a fair show in working the cure, but in the modern consumptive hospital orders must be obeyed, and the patient himself becomes one of the army fighting the common enemy.

In the homes of the poor, the proper fulfilment of the conditions necessary to effect a cure is a practical impossibility. Institutional treatment has therefore become the only gate of hope for all classes in the community. People realize that fact fully at last, and they know that, thanks to the National Sanitarium Association, the gateway to health in this country is never closed.

CONCLUDING CEREMONIES

IN response to an invitation issued by His Honour Sir John M. Gibson, Vice-President, and the Trustees of the National Sanatorium Association, a representative and distinguished body of citizens was present in Convocation Hall, University of Toronto, on the afternoon of Saturday, February 15th, 1913.

The purpose of this gathering was to present to His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, brother of the benevolent Monarch in whose memory the fund was raised, a statement of assurance of the completion of the King Edward Memorial Fund for Consumptives.

His Royal Highness visited Toronto specially for this occasion, and in order that he might transmit the certified statement to His Majesty King George V., by whose gracious permission the use of his father's name was given to the fund.

In the speeches which will be found below were many allusions to the inestimable importance of the work carried on by the National Sanatorium Association for the prevention and cure of tuberculosis and the happiness of the idea that the name of a beloved Monarch who had always taken a deep personal interest in the warfare against consumption should be commemorated in this way.

Sir John M. Gibson, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, presided. The Prime Minister of the Dominion of Canada, Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden, deputed one of his Cabinet, Hon. A. E. Kemp, to represent the Federal Government, and he himself sent a letter of regret. A similar letter of regret was received from Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Leader of the Dominion Opposition, who was represented at the gathering by the Hon. W. A. Charlton.

The Government of the Province of Ontario was represented by two of its Ministers, Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, and Hon. I. B. Lucas, Provincial Treasurer, while Mr. N. W. Rowell, K.C., was on the platform on behalf of the Ontario Opposition. His Worship Mayor Hocken represented the City of Toronto.

Many other gentlemen of note were present on the platform and in the audience.

Upon entering the hall His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught was received by the audience rising, the organist playing the National Anthem.

Sir Jno. M. Gibson opened the proceedings with the following address:—

MAY it please your Royal Highness: In the absence of Lord Strathcona, President of the National Sanitarium Association, it becomes my duty as Vice-President to take his place on this occasion.

We welcome your Royal Highness to Toronto even if only for an extremely brief and passing visit, but we look forward to visits in the future, when more time can be devoted thereto, before the term of your office expires.

I am safe, Sir, in assuring you that during the period of anxiety consequent upon the serious illness of Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Connaught, there has been manifested here and throughout this Province the utmost concern and sympathy. This has been relieved by the assurance, publicly given, that Her Royal Highness is gradually recovering her wonted health and strength. All our people fervently pray that her restoration may be speedy and complete.

Within the last year or two a movement has been inaugurated having for its object the strengthening of the financial position of the National Sanitarium Association, and its connected or subsidiary institutions, and the extension and improvement of the accommodation and facilities for taking care of the victims of the tuberculosis scourge. It was proposed at first to double the endowment by asking the public to increase the sum to $800,000. During our preliminary discussions, however, we concluded that the sum of one million dollars could be reached as easily as $800,000.

We asked His Majesty the King and Her Majesty the Queen Mother for permission to name the fund to be raised The King Edward Memorial Fund. This permission was graciously accorded and after due preparation the work of obtaining subscriptions was entered upon. Success has crowned our efforts. The million mark has been substantially exceeded, and the object of this meeting is to present to Your Royal Highness the evidence of this fact.

From the accession of Her Late Majesty Queen Victoria, down to the present time, the Royal Family have ever manifested the deepest interest in all movements and efforts for the relief of the sick and the amelioration of the condition of the unfortunate and distressed, and, Sir, the evidence about to be placed in your hands of what has been accomplished will, I am sure, be as gratifying as it is complete.

So much might be said, it is difficult to be brief. I must, however, utter a word or two of congratulation to Mr. W. J. Gage, on the present public expression of sympathy with and cordiality of feeling towards the institution which he has for the past fifteen or twenty years done so much towards establishing and maintaining.

It is most gratifying to know that the unselfish efforts which Mr. Gage has put forth all these years have been publicly appreciated, as testified by the generous manner in which unsolicited donations have come in from different directions. It is also a matter for congratulation that while the wealthy have contributed most liberally and cheerfully, and the City of Toronto has most liberally co-operated with the Association, smaller subscriptions in larger numbers have been voluntarily sent in by people of moderate means, from widely extended areas, and that what has been done here will serve as an example to be followed, and indeed is being followed, in other communities.

I now call on Mr. Gage to present the evidence of completion of the King Edward Memorial Fund.

MAY it please your Royal Highness: The pleasant task has been assigned me by the Trustees of the National Sanitarium Association and the allied institutions near Weston, to present to your Royal Highness certified vouchers covering the Million Dollar Fund - a fund which Their Majesties, King George and Queen Alexandra, have graciously permitted us to name "The King Edward Memorial Fund for Consumptives."

Gage

As the Auditors' Report, showing how this fund is made up, is attached herewith, and as it will be presented to the public through the press, I need not trespass upon your time farther than to read the following brief summary:—

Capital Investment, after deducting accounts owing.	$317,819.82
Contributions (which include signed promises and cash)	544,593.84
Toronto City By-law	200,000.00
Total	$1,062,413.66

If the Trustees can see their way to undertake the responsibility of establishing a sanatorium in New Ontario (made possible by the splendid gift of Mr. John Lumsden, of Ottawa), this fund will amount to $1,137,413.

From a financial point of view, our Trustees are profoundly grateful for the results secured. Without any elaborate organization to assist, within two months after the proposal to establish "The King Edward Memorial Fund" was made public, the million dollars were practically assured.

Your Royal Highness probably knows better than any man living the heart of the late King, and will, we believe, concur in the suggestion that no more fitting memorial could be established.

We have before us the beneficent act of King Edward himself, who, having received a gift of one million dollars from Sir Ernest Cassels, immediately set it apart for the establishment of a sanatorium for consumptives. This Royal act on the part of His Late Majesty inspired a thought that finds its consummation in the work of this hour.

thousand
treated

The National Sanitarium Association opened its first institution in Muskoka seventeen years ago. Up to that date there had not been a single institution in Canada, and only one in the United States. With very limited means at our disposal, and overcoming many difficulties, we have been able to care for nearly 7,000 people and to-day have 430 patients in our several sanatoria in Muskoka and Weston.

Our Trustees confidently believe that the results which will follow the establishment of this memorial will be of far-reaching importance in affording greater opportunity for the extension of the work and for carrying on a winning fight.

The official reports from the Provincial Health Department show that in the decade ending 1911 there has been a very marked reduction in the deaths from tuberculosis; we find that there were 890 fewer deaths from this cause in that year than in 1901, ten years earlier. This is the more remarkable when it is borne in mind that there was in the same period an increase in the population of our Province of over 340,000—largely in our cities and towns. In addition it must be remembered that a more accurate diagnosis of the disease is now made than ten years ago.

Not only will this memorial make provision for the care of a greater number of patients, but its creation has been of enormous educational value.

Some 200 newspapers in this city and province generously placed their columns at our disposal, and day by day carried the message to every part of the Dominion, "Help the King Edward Memorial Fund for Consumptives."

In the regular cancellation of stamps in the Post Office of Toronto, the Superintendent advises us that during the six weeks of our campaign, his staff cancelled postage stamps upon twelve million letters, and in doing so imprinted the message upon each letter, "Help the King Edward Memorial Fund for Consumptives," so that it is not an over-statement to say that at least twenty-five million times this message has been presented to the public through the medium of the Post Office and the Press.

The public interest thus awakened cannot fail to greatly stimulate the work of all kindred organizations in other cities and towns of this province, and already, we understand, a campaign has been started in the western part of the Dominion for $100,000 for sanatorium purposes.

It has been a source of great satisfaction to the Trustees to find that thousands of people, not only in the city and Province, but in every part of the Dominion, have freely contributed. The millionaire has given generously of his wealth, and the "widow hath done what she could." All classes, all creeds, municipalities, friendly organizations, churches and schools, have taken part in providing for this great memorial.

To George Frederic Watts, the great English painter, is attributed the statement: "All that is most real and best in our lives is that which has no material reality: love, honour, patriotism, these continue when material things pass away."

Taking some liberty with Watts' statement, may we not truthfully say that in this great memorial to the late King Edward we have crystallized the love, the honour and the patriotism of the people of this Dominion—love and affectionate remembrance of a Sovereign who, by his personal interest in the fight against the White Plague, inspired the work now so happily completed; honour and esteem for one whom history has rightly named "King Edward the Peacemaker"; patriotism as expressed in loyalty to a Throne and Empire that have led the way in all humanitarian work—a memorial that will not only be interpreted by the people of Canada as a token of how a King was loved, but will proclaim to other nations Canada's devotion to the British Throne.

When monuments of marble have faded with age, this Memorial to a beloved Sovereign will remain a living, permanent reality, carrying its message of hope, of health and of happiness to those who suffer.

Mr. Gage then handed to His Royal Highness a beautifully illuminated book containing the statement of the Trustees and the certificate of the auditors, which follow.

May it please Your Royal Highness:

The Trustees of the National Sanitarium Association, and of the Toronto Free Hospital for Consumptives, have the honor to tender to you the assurance of the completion of the King Edward Memorial Fund for Consumptives, amounting to over One Million Dollars.

The Auditors' Statement and Certificate are furnished herewith, showing that the Fund is made up as follows:—

Capital Investment, less liabilities	$317,819.82
Contributions:
Signed promises and cash	$544,593.84
Toronto City By-Law	$ 200,000.00
Total	$1,062,413.66

If the Trustees decide to open up a new Sanatorium on Lake Timiskaming and thus avail themselves of the gift of John Lumsden, Esq., of Ottawa, of property consisting of a furnished hotel which cost $75,000.00, the total of this King Edward Memorial Fund will reach the sum of $1,137,413.66.

KING EDWARD MEMORIAL FUND

The Boards of Trustees,
The National Sanitarium Association and the Toronto Free Hospital for Consumptives, Toronto.

Toronto, February 13th, 1913.

Gentlemen :-

We have examined the books of your Associations and we certify that the accompanying statement of the King Edward Memorial Fund for Consumptives is correct.

We have received letters from your solicitors certifying that the titles to your properties are in order.

The investment in the buildings and equipment at the several institutions shows their aggregate cost, and, in our opinion, the provision for depreciation is sufficient.

We have seen signed subscriptions to the fund for $343,838.34 and a telegram from Lord Strathcona promising a final and completing subscription of $125,000. These two sums amounting to $468,838.34 constitute the net amount receivable subsequent to 31st January, 1913, all payments made thereon up to that date having been first deducted.

We have not taken into account any excess of expenditure over revenue during the four months since 30th September, 1912, the close of the last fiscal year of the hospitals.

Yours faithfully, F. ROPER, Auditor.

The letter from the Right Hon. R. L. Borden :—

"It is with great regret that I find myself unable to be present at the meeting in Toronto on the 15th February next. The occasion will indeed be a memorable one for many reasons. It will commemorate the purpose and desire of a great King who sympathized most deeply with every effort to subdue and minimize the ravages of preventable disease. It will signalize the dedication and devotion to a great purpose of a magnificent fund raised in Canada to aid in that greatest conservation of all, the conservation of health and of lives. And it will bear witness to the fine spirit of altruism and humanitarianism which has animated those who have given generously for this splendid purpose."

*Right Hon.

The letter from Sir Wilfrid Laurier :—

"I am much honoured by your invitation to be present at a meeting to be held at Toronto on the 15th of February, at which His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught will be presented with a certified audited statement that the Million Dollar Fund for the National Sanitarium raised as a memorial to the late King Edward, has been completed.

"I regret that other engagements will not permit me to avail myself of your courtesy. It would have been more than a pleasure to me to offer you my congratulations upon the success of the enterprise, and still more of the manner chosen to honour the memory of our late King.

"With the sincere expression of my regret, as well as of my thanks for your kind invitation."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier

His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught replied to Mr. Gage's address as follows :—

YOUR Honour and Gentlemen, and I may also say ladies and gentlemen : I was very happy, in my capacity as Honorary President of the National Sanitarium Association, to accept the invitation of the Executive Committee to make a special visit to Toronto, with the object of celebrating a completion of the million dollar fund, which has been collected as a memorial to my dear brother the late King Edward.

I know that in giving their consent to such a memorial, the King and Queen Alexandra acted as my brother would have wished ; for he would have desired no finer monument to his memory, nor could one have been devised more fitly to remind us of one of the greatest interests of his life's work.

My feelings on the subject of the campaign against tuberculosis are—I trust—too well known here for it to be necessary or desirable for me to repeat to-day what I have said on former occasions.

But I do wish once more to emphasize the assertion that tuberculosis is preventable, and to urge the public to learn how it may be prevented and how to incorporate the necessary and simple measures into their daily life.

The public can do for themselves what no legislation, compulsory measures, or subscription of funds can do for them. Hospitals and sanatoria can take care of the existing cases; it lies with the public to prevent the occurrence of fresh cases.

Canada is directly interested in the increase of her population, and takes a very proper pride in the ever-growing census returns, and every individual can help directly in that increase by contributing within the limit of his powers to the prevention of tuberculosis, and thus saving valuable lives for the development of the Dominion, which would otherwise have been lost.

This is not the first occasion on which I have had the pleasure of congratulating the Canadian public on their open-handedness, or of thanking them for the support they have given to undertakings in which I am deeply interested personally. And I desire also to place on record my sense of obligation to the newspapers and to the public authorities who gave such valuable and practical help towards the object in view.

I thank all those who have contributed to the million dollar fund, whether their contributions be large or small; and I wish to assure them that the money could not have been given to a worthier object; for it will restore children to their parents, will re-unite husbands and wives, and will—in the last resort—alleviate the declining hours of those who are past the help of human skill.

I am sure I am echoing the sense of this meeting in expressing the gratitude we all feel to Lord Strathcona for his generous gift.

We are well accustomed to his great generosity whenever a deserving object of public interest is in question. Canada owes much to him and is fully cognizant of her indebtedness.

In thanking those who contributed to the fund, I desire to include in my thanks the gentlemen who organized the campaign and brought this life-saving work to the notice of the public.

Without their steadfast purpose and irrepressible energy this great sum would never have been raised, and to them we owe a great debt.

naught

It would be invidious to select for special thanks names from the list of prominent gentlemen who form the Executive Committee of the National Sanitarium Association; I will, therefore, refer by name only to Mr. Gage, Chairman of the Committee, who, not only by his liberal donations, but also by the devotion of his time and energy, has made this great memorial a reality; and also to the able Secretary, Mr. Hughes, and I will ask these gentlemen to accept for themselves personally, as also for the Committee, the thanks of the King and Queen, my own expression of deep appreciation of their work, and the gratitude of those poor sufferers who will benefit by the generosity of the public.

Your citizens have been lavishly generous in financial contribution; I now ask them also to give to the cause their personal effort, interest, and example.

Sir J. M. Gibson:—

THE remainder of the programme will take but a very short time, unless those who speak wander. If they do, call them down. A few words will be spoken by the Honourable A. E. Kemp, representative of the Dominion Government, in the first place, to be followed immediately by the Honourable W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, representing the Ontario Government.

Hon. A. E. Kemp, representing the Dominion Government:—

YOUR Royal Highness and Your Honour, Ladies and Gentlemen: Not wishing to be called down by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, I can assure you that I will make my remarks very brief indeed. Hon. A. Kemp

You heard the letter which was read to you by Dr. Hughes, indicating that the Prime Minister regretted that he was not able to be here this afternoon in order to join with you in this gathering, which is a splendid demonstration to those who have taken such an interest in this great work, but the Prime Minister asked me if I would come here this afternoon, and in that way show his sympathy and the sympathy of the Government in connection with this work.

Sir, when we remember how few years have passed since it was considered that tuberculosis was hereditary, that it was absolutely an incurable disease, and when we remember what has been accomplished in those few years, the great progress that has been made in dealing with the disease and in reducing the death rate, we have reason to congratulate all those who have taken an interest in this work, not only in this country, but throughout every civilized country in the world.

We do not claim for Canada that she is the leader perhaps of all the nations in the world in this splendid work, but I think we are safe in saying and in claiming that while she may not be the leader in this splendid work, yet on this continent of America she does not take second place, and I think we may fairly feel that she stands at the head in the progress which she is making in stamping out this disease, not excepting our neighbour to the south of us.

Now it speaks well, it seems to me, for Canada in these days of commercial and industrial activity, when men have tremendous responsibilities and are carrying on tremendous enterprises, to find those who are willing to not only give up their means, but what is more important, perhaps, even to give up their time, and we have reason, therefore, to feel grateful that men of this kind are coming forward and are doing their duty in one of the noblest works that we can possibly imagine, in assisting the afflicted, the weak and the helpless.

It is said that there are no less than fifty thousand consumptives in this Canada of ours, and it is said that about ten thousand die annually. If we could only reduce the death rate fifty per cent. of those ten thousand, it is difficult to estimate what great benefit we would be doing to these people, to their relatives and to this Dominion. Some optimistic authorities, I am told, say that the disease can be entirely stamped out. If that is so, what we have been doing, splendid as it may have been, is only trivial in comparison with what has yet to be accomplished in the future.

Every municipality in this country, the Provincial Governments of this country, the Dominion Government, and the people of this country, are aroused. The people of every civilized nation in the whole world are aroused.

Let Canada, let Toronto, not lag behind in this splendid work in the future, because there is still more to be done. Our hospitals, it is said, are inadequate, but from the progress which has been made in the past I feel safe in hoping that no one, however stricken or however ill, will have to wander from place to place and not find refuge. That has happened. It happened years ago in the early days, I believe, of hospital accommodation, when such accommodation was quite inadequate.

Now, I desire not to say anything further, more than this, that I feel that we are very highly privileged, as I am sure that every one here and the people of this city feel, in having His Royal Highness with us on this occasion to sanction the movement on its completion. I am sure he has come here at some inconvenience to himself, but it is a splendid thing and it draws to the attention of the people again the great interest which he has always taken and is taking in this work at the present time.

To those of the National Sanatorium who have taken a prominent part in this work, I am sure I need say no more than that the people feel very grateful to them for what they have done in what I may call probably one of the noblest works for humanity.

Hon. W. J. Hanna, representing the Ontario Government:—

YOUR Royal Highness, Your Honour, and Ladies and Gentlemen: We have heard from this platform that the first practical work done in this Province was commenced in the neighbourhood of fifteen years ago. It may be of interest to note very briefly the progress that has been made. In that time, commencing with no institution in the Province of Ontario where this class of patient could be taken care of, we have first, foremost and all the time the splendid institutions at the head of which stands Mr. Gage.

Hanna

Then we have, throughout the Province, outside of those institutions, some seven or eight other excellent institutions, all doing excellent work, and I think all fairly said to be the outgrowth of the work set on foot some fifteen years ago by Mr. Gage.

So much for the work done in the institution. Each of those institutions is an educational centre, educating the great district round about, so that the work done cannot by any means be measured by the institutions themselves.

Some reference has been made to the reduction of the death rate from tuberculosis. I was interested in the figures and I am sure no one will object if I put those figures in another way. For every 148 deaths that we had in this Province of Ontario ten years ago from this dread disease, we have had but 92 deaths in the year 1912.

Putting it in another way if you please, for every one hundred deaths that we had in this Province of Ontario some ten years ago, we had practically but sixty deaths in the year 1912.

That is, we have every reason to believe that in another year or two the number of deaths from tuberculosis will be cut in two, and with that experience behind us, when that time is reached, surely it will not then require a great optimist to look forward to the time when in this Province of Ontario, through this splendid work, this disease will be well in hand.

Let me add to what Mr. Kemp has so well said, that not only this undertaking, but this work, whether carried on by the National Sanitarium Association, or carried on by the other Associations or institutions in this Province of Ontario, cannot help but receive great benefit indeed from the honour done it to-day by the presence here on this platform of His Royal Highness the Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada.

Having said this much, I will follow that excellent practice, frequently resorted to, I believe, at Washington, and for the rest of it ask leave to print.

Mr. N. W. Rowell, K.C., representing the Ontario Opposition :—

YOUR Royal Highness, Your Honour, Ladies and Gentlemen: Just a word of congratulation, first, to the Association responsible for the raising of this fund, secondly, on the presence of His Royal Highness this afternoon to receive official notification of its completion. I am sure I am expressing your thought when I say that nothing in connection with the residence of His Royal Highness among us has more deeply impressed the people of this province, of the city, and of this Dominion, than the keen personal interest His Royal Highness has manifested in all the movements that go to the betterment of the conditions of the people of this country.

We all agree with the suggestion contained in the address read by Mr. Gage, that no memorial more fitting could be raised to the memory of one who throughout history will be known as King Edward the Peacemaker; a man who gave his life and his public service, not to kill, but to help to maintain peace, to make alive, than this memorial which will preserve life, which will protect the weak, which will help make better the conditions under which men toil and live and labour.

One word in conclusion. We are all deeply impressed and moved with the address of His Royal Highness this afternoon, and I am sure we all felt in that address nothing more impressed us than the fact that much as may be done by an Association like this, much as may be done by Governments, after all, a great part of the fight must be in the hands of the people themselves. The education which His Royal Highness has so well said will make us day by day in our own homes and in our families fight against the conditions which tend to the spreading of this disease. I am sure I am saying the truth when I say that no public service which this Association has rendered has been of greater value to this province, greater value to the Dominion than the educational campaign they have carried on for fifteen years in focusing public attention on this important matter, in awakening interest on this great question affecting the lives of our people; and the results we see to-day throughout the province are in no small measure due, not only to the work of the Association in its sanatoria, but to the educational campaign they have carried on. We desire to congratulate them on the work they have done, for this is really only the commencement of the fight ; the great work lies in the future, and we are happy to be present and to have his Royal Highness with us taking part in this momentous movement for the betterment of the conditions under which men are living and working

Mayor Hocken, representing the City of Toronto :—

YOUR Royal Highness, Your Honour, Ladies and Gentlemen: It is with great satisfaction I come to-day as the Chief Magistrate of Toronto, to report that the people of this city in their corporate capacity have, by an overwhelming majority, voted a contribution of $200,000 to the King Edward Memorial Fund.

Mayor
Hocken

While the efforts that have been put forth by the City of Toronto may be quite inadequate to the needs of the situation, I think I may say that no city of its size on this continent has undertaken its duty with regard to the prevention of tuberculosis more fully than the City of Toronto. Our citizens have not only made private contributions of substantial amounts, but they have made public appropriations of no inconsiderable sums for this work, and it is a part of the municipal policy to continue to make these contributions for the prevention of the spread of this dread disease. It is with a sense of pride, Your Royal Highness, that we citizens of Toronto recall the fact that this work, this great humanitarian enterprise, was inaugurated in the Dominion of Canada, in the City of Toronto, and by a citizen of Toronto.

Twenty years ago, when Mr. Gage first brought the attention of the Mayor of the city to the need of a sanatorium, and asked for a grant of land, promising himself a contribution, I think, of $25,000, that such an institution might be erected, the Chief Magistrate of that day suggested that instead of going into such a large enterprise, we might build a wing to the Home for Incurables. That only indicates, not the attitude of the Mayor of the day, but the attitude of the public mind of the day ; and when I state that, you will see how far we have progressed from the position which we held twenty years ago. And so, Sir, it is with great pleasure that I come to-day. I value the privilege that I have as Chief Magistrate to stand here and to add my testimony to the splendid work that has been done by this sanatorium and by the inspiration which has been given to this work by Mr. Gage and his associates, and to say that I believe I may predict with certainty that so far as the corporate power of the city is concerned, we will go on with increased energy to cope with this dread plague that so seriously afflicts our people.

Hon. W. A. Charlton, representing the Dominion Opposition :—

YOUR Royal Highness, Your Honour, Ladies and Gentlemen: There is a name of illustrious fame indelibly written in the memory of every worthy subject of the British Crown, and not only there, but revered in the hearts of millions of people the world over. The name of King Edward the Seventh.

First a Prince, then a King, he journeyed over many seas and continents, at times the welcome guest and counsellor of the highest rulers in kingdoms, empires and states, and at times the welcome, helpful visitor of the poor and needy, the sick and suffering people. Always kind and kingly, he was the central figure in a zone of unparalleled splendour and philanthropy. From early manhood for nearly half a century he worked for humanity, until one day when the nations stood hand in hand around the lifeless form of King Edward the Peacemaker, and mourned the loss to the world of him who was a peacemaker, who was always a philanthropist.

As far back as 1863 he was patron to the Brompton Hospital for Consumptives; in 1879 he laid the foundation stone for a wing which largely increased its accommodation. He was a member of the Royal Commission for the housing of the poor, and took an active personal interest in that great work. In 1897 he established the Prince of Wales Hospital Fund as a memorial to Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee, afterwards called the King Edward Hospital Fund. In 1899 he suggested or designed the hospital stamp, from the use of which so much revenue was derived for hospitals; and he was then the author of the famous saying, "If this disease is preventable, why not prevent it?" And then he became President of the Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis. In 1901 he presided at the National Congress on Tuberculosis in London.

I mention these things just to emphasize and to show how becoming and how commendable it is at this particular time for the National Sanatorium in Canada, assisted by its numerous friends, lovers of humanity, to establish a King Edward Memorial Fund for Consumptives; and how brave a thing it was to fix the amount at a million dollars; and how noble a thing to far exceed that sum. History will tell how that Mr. W. J. Gage was the pioneer in Canada and for several decades the motive power in this great life-saving work, and that it was he who conceived the idea of establishing a King Edward Memorial Fund for Consumptives, and did so much to make it the crowning success we see to-day. Yes, history will tell this.

I said that the name King Edward is an illustrious name; that he was kind and kingly. And why should this not be so? He was the first-born son of the noblest Queen the world has ever seen.

And if I may, Your Royal Highness, I would congratulate you on being able to transmit to your nephew, the King of this great Empire, this affectionate tribute to the memory of your eldest brother.

And I would congratulate all who are or may be the benefactors in this great movement, and all who are or may be the beneficiaries of this great movement, and of the noble work of establishing an imperishable monument to memory and to mercy. Yes, imperishable; because constructed layer upon layer in love and sympathy and cemented by the tears, the joyful tears of suffering. The angels rejoice at work like this and the world moves on through happier, better, brighter days.

Hon. I. B. Lucas (Provincial Treasurer):—

YOUR Royal Highness, Your Honour, Ladies and Gentlemen: Not a speech, but just a few words and a suggestion. As you have learned, in the initial stages of the movement to raise the fund of which we marked the successful closing to-day, his Majesty King George, and the Queen Mother, graciously consented to the fund taking the form that it has and to be known as the King Edward Memorial Fund.

Many memorials, noble and stately figures of bronze, have been and will continue, properly so, to be erected throughout the Empire in memory of one who was the King of this great Empire; but I like best to think of His Late Majesty, not as a King upon the throne, not as the Chief Executive Officer of a mighty Empire, but I like to think of him in the capacity that he has been referred to several times on this platform to-night, as Edward the Peacemaker, as the First Citizen of the Empire, quietly moving amongst his people, taking his part—his great part—in the promotion of the well-being of his people. He has gone, but he fulfilled in his career the highest ambition that can come to any man, be he King upon the throne or the humblest citizen of the Empire: he contributed to the lessening of human sorrow and grief and suffering, and he added something to the sum of human happiness.

Hon. I. B.

This fund will help to bring hope to many a clouded life; will help to lessen suffering and grief and sorrow; will add something to the sum of human happiness in this country. It is therefore an appropriate memorial for one whose great achievements in life were in the field of the social betterment of the people, not alone of the Empire, but of the whole world.

The people of this Province, Your Excellency, are not unmindful of and are not ungrateful for the great assistance His Majesty's representative in this Province has been able to give to this great work and cause.

Without another word, my suggestion then is that to His Majesty, King George, who has already paid us the very high honour of asking His Royal Highness to personally be his representative in this country, who has already paid us the high compliment of six visits to this country, and who has in many ways given evidence of his interest in the well-being of the people of this Dominion of Canada, we announce the successful completion of this Memorial Fund by a cablegram.

His Royal Highness graciously sent the following message:—

"The King, London:—

"At a public meeting held at Toronto this afternoon I received a certified statement showing that the Trustees of the National Sanitarium Association had completed the Million Dollar Fund for the suppression of tuberculosis, as a memorial to King Edward.

"(Signed) Arthur."

Subsequently the following reply was received from His Majesty:—

"I rejoice to hear that the splendid sum of a million dollars has been collected for the fund for suppression of tuberculosis as a memorial to my dear father. No better object could have been chosen. (Signed) George."
